

The Education Specialties Department at Loyola University Maryland seeks a full time visiting non-tenure track faculty position within our CACREP accredited school counseling program beginning Jan 2016. Responsibilities include teaching 4 courses per semester, including core courses, as well as, internship and/or practicum seminar classes for school counseling. Other duties will include advising program students, attending program, school and university meetings, and participating in committee work.

Qualifications: Highly qualified applicants will hold a doctorate in counselor education from a CACREP approved program, have 5 years experience as a school counselor, and have experience teaching and supervising school counseling master's students. Desired applicants will also have a strong commitment to serving diverse student populations. Applicants who hold a master's degree in school counseling or doctorate in a related field could be considered as long as other experiences are met.

Interested applicants can apply online at: careers.loyola.edu. Applicants will submit a letter of interest detailing qualifications as specified above, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, and contact information for three professional references. In addition, please have three letters of recommendation sent directly to: Dr. Jennifer Watkinson, Search Committee Chair, Department of Education Specialties, 4501 N. Charles Street, Loyola University Maryland, Baltimore, MD, 21210. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Priority will be given to applicants who apply by October 31, 2015.

Loyola University Maryland is an urban, selective, Jesuit Catholic institution in the liberal arts tradition. The university is committed to intellectual excellence and social justice as it prepares students for a diverse and changing world. Recognized as a leading independent, comprehensive university in the northeastern United States Loyola has a beautiful historic Evergreen campus in Baltimore and Graduate Centers in Timonium and Columbia. Loyola enrolls over 4,000 students in its undergraduate programs and about 2,000 students in its graduate programs. Loyola is committed to fostering an inclusive environment and seeks applicants from all backgrounds who can contribute to its educational mission. Loyola is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer, and welcomes applications from underrepresented groups. Additional information is available at <http://www.loyola.edu>.