

School of Education
Department of Counseling and Educational Development
Faculty Position for 2015-16

The Department of Counseling and Educational Development in the School of Education at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro seeks applicants for an Assistant/Associate Professor tenure track position beginning August 2016, in a nationally ranked program that is fully accredited by CACREP. We are seeking a colleague with either a Clinical Mental Health specialization to assist in providing leadership for the CMHC counseling program OR a colleague with a School Counseling specialization to assist in providing leadership in the School Counseling program. Members of diverse populations are strongly encouraged to apply.

Clinical Mental Health Counseling Position Description

The ability to teach CACREP core areas and addictions coursework is highly desirable. Knowledge of the application of neuroscience to counseling is also desirable. The position requires a doctorate in Counselor Education, preferably from a CACREP-accredited program, and demonstrated commitment to research and scholarship, professional service and leadership, and effective teaching and supervision. The position involves teaching in both the master's and doctoral programs, working with doctoral research projects, pursuing external funding, coordination and outreach activities, and program development. Candidates should have, or be eligible for, relevant counseling credentials (e.g., LPC, NCC).

School Counseling Position Description

The position requires a doctorate in Counselor Education, preferably from a CACREP-accredited program, and demonstrated commitment to research and scholarship, professional service and leadership, and effective teaching and supervision. The position involves teaching in both the master's and doctoral programs, working with doctoral research projects, pursuing external funding, coordination and outreach activities, and program development. Candidates should have, or be eligible for, relevant counseling credentials (e.g., LPC, NCC, North Carolina school counselor licensure).

Review of candidates will begin October 15, 2015, and continue until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, names and contact information for three references, copies of recent publications, and a brief statement of teaching/supervision philosophy including experience using technology in the classroom. Applicants should specify whether they wish to be considered for the clinical mental health position OR the school counseling position. There is only one position available.

The Department has 10 full-time faculty members and offers MS and EdS programs in school counseling, clinical mental health counseling, couple and family counseling, college counseling/student development in higher education, and a PhD in counseling and counselor education, as well as several post-masters' certificates in specialty areas. All master's and doctoral programs are fulltime, and all are CACREP accredited. The Department houses a state-of-the-art Counseling and Consulting Clinic with digital recording and observational facilities. The Department has been ranked consistently in the Top 10 in the US News and World Report rankings of counseling programs. UNCG has been ranked among the "Great Colleges to Work For" by the Chronicle of Higher Education and was honored with the inaugural NBCC Professional Identity Award.
